That's why 2017 will see the return of The Colt Graduate Scheme. Across the UK, France and Germany, vacancies will open on the ever popular three year scheme. Colt will be hiring in a range of job roles, including marketing, Sales, Finance, HR and International Project Management.

- Potential placements in different areas: Sales, Finance, Human Resources or International Project Management
- Possibility to rotate job roles every year of the scheme: Opportunity to specialise or gain experience in different areas and join an array of teams
- International placement opportunities in other Colt locations for the second year
- Each graduate will be allocated a buddy as reference point for professional queries
- Onboarding in the London office.

The graduate scheme starts on 18 September 2017, is of a rotational nature, offering potential placements abroad and lasts for three years.

Over the next three years, these graduates will be given the opportunity not only to learn transferable skills in the workplace, but also to discover new cultures and foster new ideas. With a competitive salary and full employee benefits, Colt is truly committed to rewarding and recognizing performance.
