

Internship Offer in a Psychology Startup

I am a Jacobs Alumni forming my London-based startup determined to change the way people look at and care for psychological well-being.

Our mission is to help people achieve a breakthrough in life by connecting them to a practitioner who will empower a positive change in themselves. We also want people to make an informed decision about what approach will work best for their personality and needs.

I am looking for a student of psychology who is interested in approaches such as NLP (neuro-linguistic programming), EFT (emotional freedom technique), hypnotherapy, etc.

Your task will be to help me create the biggest information hub on so called power therapies as well as some more traditional approaches. They can also help with admin tasks and keeping us (i.e. me) organised.

Most important to have: a desire to help people, an interest for approaches such as the ones mentioned above, desire to research and create interesting and informative content, some business knowledge and skills such as business strategy, online marketing and/or IT product development are welcome.

Starting: After 5th July (flexible, sooner is possible)

Duration: Flexible, can start with 8-12 weeks and then extend or continue after an interruption.

This is an unpaid internship offer
