

Student Job

We offer a position for a student with a maritime and/or economics background to work on the topic:

New navigational products for shipping in polar waters

The position remains open until filled

Tasks include:

- Market surveys to identify potential users and customers and their needs
- Cold calls to companies from market segments such as expedition cruise shipping, bulk shipping, offshore industry or ice management.
- Introducing potential customers to our operational ice map product (www.ice-maps.com)

We offer:

- Flexible working hours on a 450 EUR basis (mini job).
- Hourly payment of 15 EUR, with the potential of 20 EUR if contacts are established successfully
- A highly innovative Start-up company in Bremen
- A flat hierarchy

We need:

- A fluent English speaker
- An open minded and self-confident person ready to leave the own comfort zone - cold calls are uncomfortable for most persons.
- Someone eager to learn about our operational ice map product (www.ice-maps.com) and about the needs and requirements of shipping in the Polar regions.
- Someone interested in maritime and high-tech B2B scenarios.

If you are interested and the right person for the job, please send your application to office@driftnoise.com . If you have further questions to the job offer, please contact Lasse Rabenstein via Email (rabenstein@driftnoise.com) or phone +49 160 97 94 64 00